FRENCH MAKE GAIN ON BELGIAN FRONT; FACE POISON FUMES

London, Aug. 9.—Another gain of ground by French troops on the Belgian front, northwest of Brussels, is reported in today's official statement on Franco-Belgian front operations.

French Activities.

Paris, Aug. 9.—In the region of the ridge of Courcy and the Pantheon there was activity last night, says the official report given out today by the French war office. North of Vaux Les Palmeis, on the Alsace front, French attacking and clearing a Teuton trench, inflicting heavy losses on the Germans and returned to their own line unharmed.

German Use New Poison.

Hazebrouck, France, Aug. 9.—British medical officers are trying to determine the nature of the new poison used, it is believed, for the first time by the Germans on the French town of Arrmentieres, near the Belgian front. The poison bore a certain resemblance to the gas which temporarily blinded a large number of British troops during the battle of Arrmentieres, but its effects are infinitely more serious. Several persons taken from Arrmentieres are in a grave condition. Many have died in the hospitals at Hazebrouck.

Shells Bursting.

Arr-on-the-Lys and particularly at St. Pol-on-the-Ternoise, most of the victims were taken. The first time the new poison was observed, it came in the form of a small shell of a caliber insufficient to break the paving. These contained a colorless liquid. In the streets and in courtyards, traces of the noxious liquid may be found for hours afterwards.

As the liquid evaporates, it produces a heavy gas which penetrates into cellars. It is tenacious in character, and seems to make more victims among women than men, closing about their hair. The odor is described as resembling that of acetylene, mignonette or pungent mustard.

ARE READY TO ENFORCE FOOD BILL

ADMINISTRATION MEASURE WILL BECOME LAW WITH PRESIDENT'S SIGNATURE ON FRIDAY.

BARS GRAIN FOR LIQUOR

Compromise Prohibition Provision
Will Go Into Effect—Summary of Main Points of the Act.

Washington, Aug. 9.—All is in readiness for putting the administration food control and food survey bill into effect as soon as they become law with President Wilson's signature. The president will sign the bill tomorrow after the presiding officers of senate and house allow their signatures.

Washington, Aug. 9.—By a vote of 66 to 17 the administration food control bill passed the senate late yesterday. The measure now goes to the president, who will affix his signature some time on Friday.

The following senators voted against the conference report: Reed, Hardwick and Hollis, democrats, and France, La Follette, Gronna and Penrose, republicans.

Scope of the Bill.

The food control bill establishes during the war broad government control over food, feed, animal soils, manure, fertilizers and its ingredients, tools, utensils and equipment required for the actual production of all such products, designated "necessaries."

In establishing government control the bill authorizes the president to enter into any voluntary arrangements, create or use any agency or agencies, to accept services of any person without compensation, to co-operate with any agency or person, to utilize any department or agency of the government, and to co-ordinate their activities.

In pursuance of such authorization, President Wilson plans to appoint Herbert C. Hoover food administrator. Control of the necessities named in the bill will be accomplished through other agencies. The house provision for an individual food administrator was enacted only after the president had indicated his desire to have a house conference to eliminate a senate amendment, inserted by two overwhelming votes of 63 to 18 and 60 to 23, proposing a board of three, subject to senate confirmation.

Comprehensive powers are given in the bill, passed as a war measure, to assure adequate supply and equitable distribution of the necessities named in the bill. The president is authorized to prevent, locally and generally, scarcity, monopoly, hoarding, injurious speculation, manipulation of private trade, and affecting supply, distribution and movement.

Other provisions of the bill fix a minimum price for wheat, beginning next year, at not less than $2 per bushel; provide for control of stock raising, commandeering and government operation of factories and mines producing necessities; for government purchase, sale, lease, and distribution of necessities; and for federal licensing of agencies producing and handling them.

The prohibition provisions, a compromise between the prohibitionists and the house, prohibit manufacture and importation of distilled liquors for beverages during the war, authorize the president to suspend the manufacture of malt, fermented and distilled liquors, and to limit their alcohol content, and "authorizes and directs" the president, and in his discretion, to commandeer distilled liquors in bond and to use the same for military or other public defense purposes or to conserve foodstuffs.

Congressional leaders understand the president will not use his command to distill spirits or to curtail their consumption unless military exigencies require. The so-called Smoot amendment, directing federal seizure of distilleries and breweries in bond and to use the same for military or other public defense purposes, plus 10 per cent profit was eliminated.

In lieu of house provisions authorizing the food administrator to fix minimum prices for necessities, the bill provides that the food administrator shall fix a minimum price for wheat alone. Until May 1, 1919, the bill provides that the basic price shall not be less than $2 per bushel, shall not be less than $2 per bushel, and shall not be less than $2 per bushel, and shall not be less than $2 per bushel.

The bill appropriates for a fund of $150,000,000 to be used in the administration and sale of necessities at cost of fertilizer.

Control of Coal Prices.

Sweeping powers over coal prices are provided. The bill authorizes the president, through the federal trade commission or other agency, to fix coal and coke prices at the mines and along the way, to regulate the method of sale, shipment and distribution among dealers and consumers and to regulate coal production and mining or other agencies related to the production, transportation and distribution of the designated necessities. The bill also provides for the regulation of coal production and mining or other agencies related to the production, transportation and distribution of the designated necessities.

The bill authorizes the president to regulate the method of sale, shipment and distribution among dealers and consumers and to regulate coal production and mining or other agencies related to the production, transportation and distribution of the designated necessities.

PACIFISTS ATTACK PRESIDENT; DEMAND DRAFT LAW REPEAL

Washington, Aug. 9.—Some pacifists held a meeting under the dome of the capitol today, demanding that Congress repeal the draft law, and voiced threats of an attempt to impeach President Wilson unless it was done.

Senators and congressmen invited to the meeting by the pacifists, who are the People's Council of America for Democracy and Peace, dropped into the room and then proceeded to agitate the meeting.

A meeting was held in the senate military committee room, where a few weeks ago the draft law was drawn and perfected. Now the meeting came to a head. Several considering coming to the meeting. Senator Chamberlain of the military committee said he had permitted the use of the room when Senator Lane of Oregon, asked him for it "to have some friends meet some congressmen." Senator Chamberlain said he had no idea the place was to be used as an attack on the president.

Louis F. Lochner of New York, a member of the Ford peace party, presided. The burden of the speech was that a majority of the people would not go to the draft law and it should be repealed.

Latest Announcement.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Revised regulations to govern physical examination of men registered under selective draft were issued today by Surgeon General Gorgas of the army and communicated to governors of the states for information of local boards. The changes may recall some of the men who have been rejected. The new regulations grant an underweight allowance of from five to six pounds for men between sixty-four and sixty-seven inches in height; seven to eight pounds between sixty-seven and sixty-nine inches; nine to ten pounds between seventy and seventy-two inches; and twelve pounds above seventy-two inches. The effect of the instruction is to reduce the normal weight requirements for tall men. A daily report to the district board on chest expansion also is allowed to men above sixty-nine inches in height where there is no sign of disease. Men with poor teeth also will be more closely scrutinized hereafter. Where dental work will restore the teeth they will either be enrolled and work done by the army dentist or allowed time to have work done themselves. A punctured ear drum is found to be no barrier provided the hearing is half normal. Modifications are made also in sight requirements.

Protestant prompt action by local boards in certifying as held for service men who make no claim for discharge or exemption.

Men who are held to the district board is required at the close of each day's work, and similarly district boards will report each night to the adjutant general, the men finally accepted, appointed by the board will appear on local and district boards to furnish one-third of their quota on September 1st.

HAUGE'S BROTHER TELLS ALIBI STORY

La Crosse, Aug. 9.—Carl Hauge, brother of Theodore Edwin Hauge, West Salem truck farmer, was for the murder of Mrs. Clara Miller of La Crosse. He told a story which, if true, provides a possible alibi for the alleged slayer of the woman whose body was found buried in the Hauge cellar on July 31.

Carl told the West Salem newspaper man that he spent all but one hour of the night of February 24 in the murder cottage with his brother, going to the village at 7:30 in the evening, and returning at 8:30. He says it would have been impossible for him to have gone away with the woman during that time. The brother claims the hunted man is innocent.

ONE THIRD OF MEN ORDERED FOR DRAFT TAKEN IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 9.—With the announcement today that two districts had obtained the quotas declared by the selective draft law, it was estimated by Roscoe C. Conkling, deputy general in charge of the work in this city, that one-third of the men called for examination have been accepted for the new national army.

No Labor Shortage.

No acute shortage in the labor supply in New York state because of the federal draft is foreseen by John Mitchell, chairman of the state industrial commission, and Charles D. Barnes, director of the state system of public employment bureau. Each in a statement today said he could see many changes in the labor situation, but believes employers would readjust their affairs to meet the situation, and that they would do so without detriment to their business.

Sailors Are Scarce.

The demands in America for labor have made it almost impossible for the owners of several French ships building here, and others chartered from America, to obtain sailors to man the vessels. It became known here today, when 300 sailors were drawn from various ports for that country. It was said that many men who have formerly followed the sea had come to work on the ships, and it was almost impossible to get the sailors required to navigate steamships.

Dogs and Porcupines.
No matter how many lessons a dog has received, it is a peculiarly long noted that it will attack a porcupine every time it is met. A setter or pointer after partridges, just as a half or full blooded bound deer, will throw himself on a porcupine every time it is seen and immediately set up the same familiar howl of dismay. When cornered the porcupine rolls up into a ball, hiding legs, head and belly and presenting nothing except an animated cactus. It has the faculty of loosening its hold on the quills, which are imbedded in pores in its skin, and they come off and stick to another object at the slightest touch.—Exchange.

COMPANY M PASSES

FIRST RAINY NIGHT

Janesville Sammies Soaked But Happy—Lost Three Men on Physical Examinations.
(By Staff Correspondent.)

August 7, 1917.
When we woke up this morning our grounds were flooded with water. When it rains in Camp Douglas it comes down in torrents. Drill was postponed and so most of us spent the morning in our tents writing home to mother and sweethearts. Patches were very much in evidence and a good many fellows received a good drenching. What do they care, though; they are doing their bit for Uncle Sam, and we are indeed proud of them. We have all been measured for khaki uniforms and the requisitions are made out for clothing, guns, etc., but as yet we have not been issued our supplies.

This morning we had bacon, potatoes, bread and coffee for breakfast. For dinner, hamburger, onions, bread and butter and coffee. Many of the boys went back for seconds at dinner time, and I might say here that the dinner was very good. The dinner was delicious, and our company cooks and mess sergeants are being commended for their ability in furnishing us with such a dinner. The cooks have three men each day to help them serve the meals, peel the potatoes, carry water, etc. When the mess call blows the men all make one grand rush for the cook shack. Of course we all must take our time and stand in line. After meals we are required to stand in line to wash our dishes. We eat our meals sitting on the ground, and do not have a dining hall like we had last year. If our dishes are not clean we use our soap, and some of our dishes are washed just like mother washes them at home.

We are all through with our examinations, and were lucky to lose but three men. Four of our men are to be transferred to another company, as we were carrying seven unassigned recruits. We lost three men on physical examinations, and consequently we took three of these men to make our full quota of one hundred and fifty, and transferred the other four to some other company.

Company M has not been on guard as yet, but we expect to go on Sunday or Monday night. All of the non-commissioned officers walked over to the parade ground this afternoon and viewed the formal guard mount, so as to get a few pointers. Most likely we will have to use about eight squads, or sixty-four men, as Camp Douglas is a large place and has to be properly guarded. Every man is busy learning his general orders and studying their guard manual. Company M is forging ahead in other lines. Companies out there in guard duty. Many of the other officers are watching us and passing many good remarks on the way. "Do or Die" is our motto, and we are going to make a name for Janesville, just as the two former military companies of Janesville did in the early days.

Lieutenant Rait should be complimented on his splendid work in handling the company in Captain Caldwell's absence. Both he and Lieutenant Patton are doing splendid work, and some day will be rewarded for their fine work.

The boys say that they would like some magazines to read, and if the good people of Janesville would try and send a few old magazines, I know they would be greatly appreciated. Many of the fellows received a lot more. "I just received a nice box of home cookies, and they were surely welcome, as the fellows in my tent can assure you.

We would greatly appreciate it if someone would send us a little ice cream once in a while.

It is quite a sight to get down town in the evening and see all of the boys enjoying themselves at the movies, ice cream parlors and other places. When a town of three hundred population entertains a crowd of about five or six thousand men, it makes quite a difference in the appearance of the main street.

The other evening one of the men belonging to the signal corps fell off one of the cliffs and was badly injured. The report was that he was killed, but I heard today that he was still living. The cliffs around here are dangerous, and we must be very careful in climbing around them.

We have a new mail box which we purchased in town, and every time the mail men collect the mail, the mail box of Company M is pretty full. We received so much mail this morning that the sergeant in charge of quarters had to make several trips. We are glad of it, and wish that we had to send a huge wagon after the mail. One would be surprised if he would pass by an army Y. M. C. A. tent and not see a mail bag and notice the many men writing home. Sometimes we have to wait our turns at the writing desks because they are so crowded. The Y. M. C. A. is doing a great work and will always be remembered by the soldier boys, and especially the members of Company M.

I am going to send a list of the names of the men and the tent they occupy, so if any Janesville people come to see us they will have no trouble in locating the boys. The list is as follows:

Cook tent, which is located back of the cook shack—Mess Sergeant Strampe, Cook Keuck, Cook Parker and Cook Taylor.
Tent No. 1—Sergeant Ryan, Sergeant McGeoff, Corporal (company) Beard, Buglers Berg and Sartell.
Tent No. 2—Sergeant Grimshaw, Mechanics Rutledge and Thiele, Private Thurnau and Marshall.

Tent No. 7—Sergeant Kerzmann.

Light Lunch Hot Days Grape Nuts and Cream

Privates Olsen, Ryan, M., Meyers, W., O'Dell and Rowley.
Tent No. 9—Corporal Jolinski, Private Horn, J. Ellis, E. Ellis, R. Smith, E., Schifalbein, H. Arndt, Spaulding, Stillman and Peterson, E.
Tent No. 10—Corporals Maine, Flaherty, Private Austin, Estes, G. Hill, G. Green, Hubbard, Weaver, M. Nee and Arndt.
Tent No. 11—Corporal McDonald, Private Schultz, Stiff, C. Williams, Miller, Hamilton, Bickel, Lanphere and Burkham.
Tent No. 12—Sergeant Novaski, Corporal Smith, Private Clarke, Wells, Vogel, Harper, Martin, Horn, M., Daatwiler and Chesak.
Tent No. 13—Sergeant Stamps, Corporal King, Meyers, Private Stempel, Planlike, Schmidt, McKinnis, Estes, R., Gehrk, Schiefelbein, W. and Miller, Brandy.
Tent No. 14—Sergeants Herman, Flancory, Private Peterson, A., Woodard, Corrado, Hill, F. Christiansen, B. Berger, O. Hendrickson, Neilson, Ginn and Masch.
Tent No. 15—Sergeant Murphy, Private Craig, Berkale, Kreuger, Tobin, Christian, A., Christian, B., Berry, Boyce, Stiff, A., Ashby and Cairncross.

Company Notes.
Bugler Sartell has had two offers to transfer to the band. One of these is to the cavalry band, and the other to the band of a regiment in the state. He is rather undecided, because he doesn't like to leave his friends. We sure would hate to lose him, because he is such a good musician and we need him in our band.

Supply Sergeant Grimshaw and Mechanic Thiele have been busy measuring the boys for their uniforms. The number of non-commissioned officers who shared Sergeant Novaski's birthday cake wish he had another birthday soon, as the cake was surely delicious.

Feeding the Troops.
Camp Douglas, now the home of more than 10,000 soldiers, may be a baby city, but it eats and wears out a good many of the country's resources. From broad expanse of trees, grass and sand, stretching away between picturesque bluffs, almost over night it has become one of the bustling and most interesting cities in the state. With this sudden growth has come a great demand for food and clothing. Soldiers are the wonder eaters of the world, and a day's rations for camp troops are:

10,000 lbs. of beef.
2,500 lbs. of bacon.
8,000 lbs. of bread.
100,000 lbs. of potatoes.
2,000 lbs. of onions.
1,500 lbs. of beans.
1,000 lbs. of rice.
430 cans of tomatoes.
1,000 cans of corn.
700 lbs. of coffee.
450 cans of milk.
2,000 lbs. of sugar.
Rations are drawn in accordance with schedule. Everything is reduced to a scientific basis, and it is up to the cooks to keep within the prescribed limit. But the men get plenty to eat.

to equip the men in wearing apparel is another big job. In addition to the equipment on hand when Uncle Sam decided that he wanted an increased force of fighting men to line the Kaiser, Camp Douglas has drawn and will distribute the following:

10,400 belts; 13,600 breeches (foot); nearly 5,000 breeches (mounted); 30,000 coats; 7,140 hats (cord); 35,600 pairs of drawers; 3,153 pairs of gloves; 3,700 service hats; 6,500 leggings (foot); nearly 2,000 leggings (mounted); 17,500 pairs of shoes; 47,500 pairs of stockings.
Lieutenant Colonel Williams, as head of the quartermaster department, is the big business man of the camp. He probably sees more men and handles more matters in a day than any other business man in the state. When he isn't in his office or superintending the unloading of a troop train, he is flying around the camp in a motorcycle go-cart. "Action" is his first, middle, and last name.

EXPECT SIX WEEKS MID-WINTER SESSION
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Aug. 9.—From the number of important pieces of legislation that is to come before the special session of the legislature to be convened here in the late fall or early winter it is probable that the work will occupy six weeks or even two months. The session will be a busy one, and it is probable that the work will be so heavy that the session will be extended.

The question of closing saloons on Sunday, together with suggested legislation for the curbing of the use of foods in the manufacture of liquors, the big fish and game law as asked by lake shore fishermen.

Codification of the drainage laws of the state.
Financial measures occasioned as the result of the war.
Of all subjects of legislation the liquor questions have always occasioned prolonged hearings and much debate. From authoritative sources it is learned that the governor intends to submit to the legislature his measures to prohibit the sale of whiskey in the state. When the bill is introduced, it will be before him for consideration.

Wednesday's Markets.
Chicago, Aug. 8.—There was a general advance of 15¢25¢ in cattle prices yesterday, with a new high record of $14.35 for Iowa and Missouri beefs averaging 1,214 to 1,566 lbs.

In August, 1916, top cattle sold in Chicago at $11.50, in corresponding month of 1913 at $9.00. At $9.00 the top was only $5. Distillery steers sold yesterday at $14.30.

Nearly a dozen loads of 215@238 lb. hogs sold at $15.65. The highest bid for the record established last May. Buffalo reported a $17.10 top and Pittsburgh had a $17.25 sale yesterday.

Average price of hogs at Chicago was $16.15, against $16.10 Tuesday, $15.82 a week ago, $10 a year ago and $6.30 two years ago.

Cattle Values Higher.
Bulk of sales sold 15¢25¢ higher yesterday and at the highest point on record for the best. Offerings under $9 were slow and unchanged, while many at $10@11 were 35¢ to 40¢ higher. Cattle and hogs gained mostly 15¢25¢ and calves advanced 25¢. Better country demand boosted stockers and feeders 15¢25¢. Quotations:

Choice of steers... $13.95@14.35
Good to good steers... 7.25@13.25
Yearlings, fair to fancy 10.50@14.00
Fat cows and heifers... 6.00@12.15
Canning cows and cutters... 6.00@10.25
Native bulls and steers... 6.00@10.25
Feeding cattle, 600@1,100 lbs... 6.35@9.35
Poor to fancy veal calves... 7.25@13.00

Most hogs sold 5¢ higher than Tuesday and top was boosted to $16.65, equaling the previous top established for the first time in May. Trade was active and held firm throughout, except on a few of the plain packing sows. Pigs were in fair demand at steady rates. A good share held over were in second hands.

Lamb Prices Advance.
Lambs yesterday enjoyed the first return in several weeks and the main measure of the bulk of fat lambs, while feeders were 25¢40¢ higher. Sorting was much lighter than usual and most culls were 50¢ above low time last week. Yearlings old above low time last week. Range lambs, outtopped natives by 25¢ at $14.60. Good ewes made $9. Quotations:

Lambs, common to fancy $12.00@14.60
Lambs, poor to good culls 10.00@11.75
Yearlings, poor to best... 9.25@12.25
Wethers, poor to best... 8.50@10.85
Ewes, inferior to choice 6.00@9.25
Bucks, common to choice 5.00@7.90

JAPAN PLANNING TO RE-FILL WAR CHEST
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Tokio, Aug. 9.—Japan, to date, has spent $14,500,000 on war expenses, although $71,000,000 of this sum is for the current fiscal year. Most of this war expenditure has been met with surplus of revenue which the government held in August, 1914, but this is now exhausted and the authorities are considering other measures to cover Nippon's fighting bill.

STATE INSPECTOR HERE ON MILK CO. BARN BLAZE
Representatives of the state fire marshal's office at Madison were here yesterday for an inquiry into the fire which caused extensive damage to the F. C. Grant property, in the rear of their North Bluff street plan; and leased by the Janesville Pure Milk company. Results of the investigation were not made known.

Comes for Stolen Car.
The sheriff from Rochelle, Ill., accompanied by Gilbert Smith of Kines, accompanied by Evansville yesterday morning after the automobile stolen by the two men, C. E. Haight and F. A. Pittman. These men were taken to the Janesville municipal court Tuesday by Chief of Police Fred Gillman, and held for examination for a week from Tuesday. The car, a new Ford with demountable rims and many other accessories that do not come with the car, these men tried to sell to the owners of a local garage for something like $275. This awakened Chief Gillman's suspicions, when he reported to him, and he placed the men under arrest. After telegraphing Chicago and getting the sales number, the chief found that the car had been sold to Gilbert Smith of Kines, Ill. He talked with the man over the phone Tuesday evening, with the result that the owner accompanied by the sheriff arrived here Wednesday morning and identified the car. Mr. Smith and his wife had worked and saved for the past two or three years with the hope of some day owning an automobile. They had hoped to realize this year and they had just purchased this one, owning it but two weeks when it was stolen from the streets of Rochelle a week ago last night. He was very thankful to man to recover his stolen property. The sheriff also took the thieves back to Rochelle with him and they will be tried and punished by the Illinois courts.

The Misses Anny Williams, Leona Huebach and Messrs. Lyle Blakeley and Warren Boode spent Sunday at Lake Kegonsa.

Roy Reckord was an over Sunday visitor at Livingson. Robert Collins motored to Madison Sunday.

MEDALIST WINS IN THE FIRST ROUND; SCHALLER STOPPED

Kenneth Dickenson of Appleton Wins First Flight—L. W. Nieman Beats Al. Schaller, 1 Up.

Among the unexpected happenings in the first round of the Red Cross Wisconsin State Golf association championship match on the links of the Milwaukee Country club, was the victory of the medalist, Kenneth Dickenson of Appleton, over I. J. Dahle of the Blue Mound club, 9 and 8. Another surprise was the defeat of Al. Schaller, the local star, by L. W. Nieman of the Milwaukee club, one up. Schaller was forced to retire at the end of eighteen holes, after a brilliant match. Both players took an 18 for the eighteen, but a 3 on the nineteenth served to greatly lessen Schaller's final total. The hole is a par 4 and par 4.

Results of yesterday's play follow:

Championship Flight.

K. Dickenson, Appleton, beat I. J. Dahle, Blue Mound, 9 and 8.

CARDS-WATERTOWN TO CLASH ON SUNDAY

Hardest Game in Month Comes This Week—Goslings to Use Anweiler Against Crodan.

The Cardinals on Sunday play their most crucial game in six weeks when they again journey to Watertown to clash with the league-leading Goslings. The home-port of the first berth baseball team is intense with excitement, reports from there aver, as the Cardinals are now recognized as the Goslings' most dangerous opponent for honors. Additional interest is manifest in the coming battle since the crew of Cappe Eberts nosed out the duckmen by a lone tally in an extra session game a month ago, a contest that was replete with riot, bickering baseball and about everything else possible to squeeze into an afternoon at the national pastime.

Crodan, who turned the Goslings before, will again face them Sunday. He will be opposed by Anweiler. The only other change from the Cardinal line-up of last week will be that Meyers instead of Goodman will be in the field.

Victory Sunday will put the Cardinals a full game to the good and so much nearer the leading up-staters. Every member of the team is out to win and the Cards will do their "dullest" to take another wallop at Watertown.

Local interest in the game is at a high pitch and indications are that the Cards will have a big following on the trip.

Change of scene is highly recommended as the means of curing many ailments. Shifted from a place where there appeared to be only monotony and discouragement mind and muscle very frequently take on new zest, and what had seemed the impossible becomes simply a matter of course. In baseball countless cases have been recorded of a player taking on new life and showing renewed activity when shifted from one club to another. The value of a change is now being demonstrated at the Polo grounds in the case of Armando Marsans until recently with the Browns and lately added to Bill Donovan's Yankee squad.

FAIR WEEK.

Years ago Janesville was noted for its race weeks, when some of the finest horse flesh in the country was stabled and raced at the old fair grounds, which became one of the look-out and anticipated events of the year. Today there are stabled at the Park Association track horses that can negotiate the mile and the half mile faster than the majority of the old-timers of a decade or so ago ever dreamed possible. In fact one of the old-time habitués of the track, years gone by himself, expressed the thought through the columns of the Gazette recently:

"Now week is fair week. This does not mean race week alone, but a combination of racing and an exhibit of the fine stock, of the produce of the soil that is raised in the immediate vicinity. Within the past three years Rock county has forged to the front as a beef and milk-producing county. The herds that have been established are receiving more than favorable mention in the stock papers of the nation through. The cream of these herds will be on exhibit next week showing what Rock county is doing toward increasing the food supply of the nation.

Then there will be displays of hogs, of sheep, of fine horses, of state and garden vegetables, of women's work, of work by the school children, of the fine brooded, aristocratic fowls that raise the price of eggs during the winter months simply because they wish for a vacation in an off season of the year. In fact almost every line of agricultural activity is to be displayed and the management has taken hold of the amusement by promoting good, clean entertainments.

Fair week means crowds of happy and enthusiastic people. Weather conditions acceptable there should be no question but that Janesville will entertain crowds during the next few days that will even eclipse the audiences that used to swarm to the old race meets when pool-sucking and wipels of fortune were in vogue. This is the only big fair of southern Wisconsin and if this year's show is as far advanced over last year's as the Nineteen Sixteen fair was over the previous year, it will be second only to the Milwaukee state fair in significance. Make your plans accordingly and do not plan to take in all the exhibits in one day; they will be too many and too diverse.

FUTILE PEACE PROPOSALS.

"As a sample of many amateur peace proposals received by the newspapers, the following may be submitted. It is what its author is pleased to call 'an American peace,' says an eastern exchange. 'It proposes the restoration of all territories and boundary lines with the exception of the cession of Alsace-Lorraine to France, the restoration of Germany's colonies, no indemnities, a world agreement for compulsory arbitration and the limitation of armaments to nominal figures, and adds, with unconscious humor, 'the deserved punishment of the crassian junkies must be foregone in the interest of humanity.'

"This obviously is a German peace. The safeguards are illusory. Compulsory arbitration would not have prevented Germany from going to war in 1914. It would not be observed, and could not be enforced, for the common-sense reason that what is everybody's business is nobody's business, while Germany's views about scraps of paper are unchanged. If the feelings of the people governed are to be considered, the natives of Africa, wherever the German flag has flown, will infinitely prefer to remain under British rule. The prospect of the recession of German West Africa, now occupied by the Boers and British, is so remote that it is not worth serious discussion. This proposal, in fact, evidently comes from one entirely ignorant of the nature and government of German colonies, and the essential difference, not of degree, but of kind, in the government of colonies by Great Britain.

"But peace may be in sight, and not by reason of the terrible conflict now in progress in Flanders. It is truly pointed out by a competent observer that a triple bankruptcy in manpower, ship-power and financial power will force Germany to terms in the near future to save something out of the wreck. How short our memories are, and how little those who so freely volunteer their solutions of the world problem take the trouble to study the facts of record!

"When Germany went to war she undertook a gigantic but promising gamble. Her financial and commercial interests were overextended in the world's trade. A successful war, such as looked highly promising up to the failure of the advance upon Paris, was a way out of complications which had led to a nation at a crisis of the worst kind. Business and the war machine, therefore, plunged into the struggle hand in hand, because their interests were, at least they thought they were, identical.

"But it cannot be assumed that their interests are identical now. The tide of change winds every day. Doubtless the war machine is prepared to go on fighting as long as a single soldier can stand up. But what becomes of Germany? There have never been any intention of the allies to dismember the central powers, whatever may be claimed in defense of a wicked and shameful war. But by prolonging the struggle Germany is taking the shortest way to dismember herself. Her foreign trade, credit, colonies, commercial prestige are all gone, and can only be laboriously built up again over a period extending beyond the memory of the present generation. Truly it is time to snatch something from the fire, and restitution to the injured and outraged is the least Germany should pay."

SWIMMING BEACHES.

The council has taken a wise step in establishing dressing rooms at the swimming beach at the island. It will mean untold comfort and convenience to the hundreds who have enjoyed the waters of the river during the recent heated spell and who will have ample time before the snow and ice come for many another swim. If only the river could be dredged of stumps and rubbish and its waters somewhat clarified, it would make an ideal place for recreation. However the changes being made will accomplish much of the desired result and bring the hot and tired citizen into a closer touch with nature than would otherwise be possible.

THE PUNISHMENT.

In Gilbert and Sullivan's famous opera of Mikado, Poo Bah is made to sing the song of the "Punishment Fits the Crime." Of course this Millennial Land will never be arrived at, "the object all sublimely can never be achieved in time," but the St. Louis Republic, commenting upon a punishment for the crimes of our statesmen, says:

"In that happy millennial land where the ideal will always be attained there will be a large hall which can be closed and securely bolted. It will be soundproof, and though having the appearance of a temple devoted to forensic art, the acoustics will be as bad as possible.

"The public will never be admitted and no reports of what takes place inside will ever reach the people. Inside there will be Senator James Reed and Senator Robert La Follette, and they will be compelled forever and ever to make six-hour speeches to each other, turn and turn about, and the man who is not speaking will be compelled to listen.

"Those will be happy days for the people outside, while Robert and James will begin to believe after a while that there is such a thing as hell."

The man who would surely enlist for the French trenches if he were only younger, should try getting out in the trenches in the back yard and rooting out the weeds that are spoiling his garden.

It is amazing how easy it will be for people to carry their own bundles home when they get a rebate for it, and how impossible to do so when cost of delivery is all charged into the regular prices.

The recent revelations demonstrate that the German government has been looking over the Austrian ultimatum thoroughly before deciding that it didn't know anything about it.

The spies and plotters aren't inciting strikes and riots. O no! They are merely persuading the munition workmen to better their condition.

Three hundred and sixty-six killed, 1,092 injured in London air raids since the beginning of the war, and nothing to show for it but the contempt and hatred of mankind.

Among the men who must expect severe punishment from their associates at the present time are the socialists who have dared to be loyal to their country.

The same people who growl about the heat would be the ones who would growl the most next winter if there was a shortage of corn owing to lack of heat.

The Oklahoma draft revolvers being in jail where they will neither have to work or fight, seems to have accomplished the object of their offensive.

It is to be feared that if they put the real American motto on our coins, it would not be "In God we trust," but "I should worry."

The Kaiser doesn't much care how long they perfect war legislation at Washington as long as they don't pass it.

So far the conscientious objectors have developed no scruples about letting their neighbors go to war.

What is wanted about now in the rural districts is fewer pergolas and more pig pens.

The dust of the weeds that in meadows are growing.
In field and in dell where the rivulets brawl.
The pollen of posies so pleasantly is come to the cities to pay us a call.
The dust of the weeds now are borne on the breeze.
Are borne every nooses to tickle them, too.
And soon all the welkin will ring with our sneezes.
"K—CHOW!"

A look of alarm on our faces is dwelling.
A feeling of frenzy excites us to tears.
And there no solace to help us in quelling.
Our seasonal sorrows, our sniffs and our fears?
How well do we know and how sad is the knowing.
That soon will we suffer and beat at our brow.
That soon with the rest of our kind we'll be gone.
"K—CHOW!"

A curse on the hay that has fathered a fever.
That brings every summer a sorrow to some.
For none is more sad than the pitiful griever.
Who shortly will wake on a morning to come with a horror displeasing.
He'll dread and he'll wonder just what it can be.
And then he will answer himself with his sneezing.
"K—CHEE!"

Nobody loves a fat man's life in hot weather.

not always a noise. People of refinement make on the fewest sounds while at their food, while other people make any number of noises. The most celebrated sound is the sound of a pin dropping. It is famous because it is very rare. It requires great silence. Pins drop often enough or as often at least as seems reasonable, but it is seldom silent enough about that the sound of the pin may be heard. Very rarely is a silence said by those there to be such that you might have heard a pin drop. But a pin seldom happens to drop at such times. Sometimes, someone may have presence of mind to drop a pin then and try the thing out for once.

Said the tenor (who was awful) to the player, with a pout,
"When your playing's fast and jerky it will only throw me out!"

Said the player, with a snicker,
"Sing your song, before you're through it."

"You will find it's not my playing—someone else is going to do it!"

The only way some people can dispel temptation is to yield to it.

OVER TWO HUNDRED CHILDREN IN GAMES

ANNUAL TRACK AND FIELD MEET OF CITY PLAYGROUNDS IS MOST SUCCESSFUL EVENT.

MANY GIRLS COMPETE

Make Excellent Records in Competition at Fair Grounds on Wednesday.—Swimming Meet.—Friday and Saturday.

Over two hundred and twenty-five children of the city took part in the annual track and field meet held at the Fair Grounds Wednesday afternoon. The number was larger than that of any previous year and the competition was very keen. The events started promptly at two o'clock and closed at four o'clock.

The entry list of girls in the two classes was very much larger than that of any previous meet. The number reached seventy-five. The under twelve class of boys had the largest entry list with seventy in competition. I n the over fifteen year old class for the girls Alice Levzow led with high honors. She was first in the 50 yard dash and the 100 yard dash, second in the 150 yard dash and the 200 yard dash, and third in the 400 yard dash. The number reached seventy-five. The under twelve class of boys had the largest entry list with seventy in competition. I n the over fifteen year old class for the girls Alice Levzow led with high honors. She was first in the 50 yard dash and the 100 yard dash, second in the 150 yard dash and the 200 yard dash, and third in the 400 yard dash.

The over fifteen year old class Agnes Dorn made a record throw of

SLEIN SUSPENDED FOR TEN DAYS; TOO ZEALOUS ON DUTY

Police Board Finds Woman in Case Partially Warranted Drastic Measure Taken by the Officer.

Patrolman Patrick Slein, of the Janesville police department, last night, following the third session of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, was suspended for ten days without pay and the reprimand from the board for his "over-zealousness in the execution of police authority" a week ago. Slein was charged with having beaten and maltreated Mrs. George Kinney, 120 South Chatham street. The commission in its findings says the complaint of Chief of Police P. D. Champion filed against the officer was not substantiated in its entirety from the testimony taken.

The board first went into the case on Monday night. Such testimony was given that the decision was reached to penalize the officer virtually as was the final result, but a sudden turn of affairs caused the matter to be held in abeyance until yesterday morning. At the adjourned session the women in the case, Mrs. Kinney and her companion, were called and told their stories separately. Still, the testimony showed that circumstances surrounding the fracas in a way justified a certain part of the action resorted to by the officer.

The board took a further adjournment last night and after recalling another officer finally made its decision.

Here is the record of the case as written into the minutes of the meeting:

In the matter of the complaint of Chief of Police P. D. Champion, filed against Officer Patrick Slein, for beating and maltreating Mrs. George Kinney, on the night of July 30-31, 1917.
"The board have heard the evidence of all parties concerned in the case and after a consideration of the testimony given, find that the complaint was not wholly substantiated, but that Officer Slein displayed an over-zealousness in the execution of his duty, and on the occasion complained of, and the board is of the opinion that his acts on that occasion should not go unpunished. Therefore, we recommend, that Officer Patrick Slein be suspended for a period of ten days without pay, and that he be subjected to reprimand by the board. The board also recommends that the board governing the police force of the city of Janesville, viz., the necessary violence to prisoners" in the performance of his duties."

AUTO AND MACHINE EXHIBITS AT FAIR WILL BE FEATURES

Perfect Plans for Stockholders' and Producers' Days—Entries Coming in Fast.

Two of the principal exhibits of the Janesville Fair which will be held here from Tuesday until Friday of next week, will be the automobile and the machinery shows. The auto show is an innovation in the local fair and will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting exhibits on the grounds.

A large tent, 40x160 feet, will be erected on the midway for the accommodation of the fifty or more cars which will make up the show. Both pleasure and commercial vehicles of all makes and models will be shown. The latest designs will be exhibited not only by local dealers but by manufacturers and dealers about the state. Besides the autos, accessories, tires, trailers, trucks, and the thousand and one things made especially for the motorist will be shown.

The machinery exhibit which will occupy the land between the Milwaukee avenue gate and the secret dairy farm, will be the largest and most complete shown here in the past. Besides the many farm implements shown, there will be tractors, stationary engines, dairy machinery, and all sorts of farm machinery. Practically all of the local manufacturers will exhibit, and the farmer will be afforded an opportunity of about the state. The latest developments in the mechanical line intended for him.

Entries in the stock exhibits are coming in faster than the secretary can handle them, and the dairy men and breeders from all over the middle west have been attracted to this fair by the high quality of the exhibitions, and farmers who have never before shown a dairy cow, will display large herds. John E. Kennedy, who owns one of the finest herds of shorthorns in the world, will show twenty head, and the exhibits in other breeds will be of equal caliber.

Tuesday, the first day of the fair, has been specially designated as "Stockholders' Day." Each of the three hundred stockholders in the Janesville Fair Association has been sent a letter urging his attendance that day. Provisions will be made for a luncheon, and a meeting at which the directors will explain the purpose of the fair and the importance of the stock exhibit to the dairy industry. The event is of great importance to the thousand or more dairy farmers in Rock county who have taken membership in the association, will be the address by W. J. Kettle of Chicago, an officer of the Chicago Dairy Association and one of the biggest dairy men in the country. Word has been received from many producers in the southern part of the state and in Illinois, that they will be here to see Mr. Kettle talk. His speech will come at eleven o'clock Thursday morning.

Another man of national prominence in the milk field is W. E. Skinner, secretary of the National Dairy Council, and administrator for the fund of $650,000 appropriated by that body to be used in advertising purposes. He will be on the program for producers' day.

During the day, ten thousand glasses of milk will be distributed free to the fair guests, by the Kee and Chapell Dairy company, which has but recently established a new plant in this city for supplying the Chicago market. The milk tent will be in charge of W. O. Austin, H. C. Hemmingsway, and Mr. Clarke. Ten "Milk Maids" will distribute the milk. Emil Fischer, George Woodruff, and Charles Fisher, are in charge of the general program for the day, while the basket dinner to be served in the grandstand is in charge of W. C. Huginin, Charles Johnson and Arthur Wiggins.

RICKEY GAINS FAME BY NABBING SISLER

New York, Aug. 9.—It was through George Sisler and his wonderful work that Branch Rickey first gained fame as a scout for ball players. Rickey, then manager of the Browns, made the assertion when Sisler began to flash as a pitcher and out fielder that the former Michigan university student would some day play for him as a wonderful ball player. Sisler is beginning to prove Rickey right.

Following close after Sisler, Rickey turned Ernie Koob into the American league, with the income remark that there was a kid who some day would be one of the best left-hand pitchers in the game. Koob is living up to it. Then Rickey searched around and located Dr. John Lavan. "Lavan wouldn't be a terrible lot," remarked Rickey when it became known Lavan would join the Browns, but he pointed out that the youth possessed coolies of speed and wonderful holding ability. Lavan is now recognized as a real star.

These fellows are all with the Browns, and Rickey is with the Cardinals as president of the club. Rickey has placed the stamp of stardom on him. If he follows through as have others of Rickey's selection, Miller Huggins' pitching staff has gained its greatest asset.

Goodwin's first game was a shutout over the Phillies, and then he has pitched some excellent games. Rickey has placed the stamp of stardom on him. If he follows through as have others of Rickey's selection, Miller Huggins' pitching staff has gained its greatest asset.

Nick Chillop, every club in the American league is crying has nothing but luck. The White Sox say he has even a noticeable curve.

Yet Nick last year won twelve straight games, some at the expense of the Sox, and has been fairly successful again with club in the present pennant hunt.

However, the failure of Nick to go at top speed this year, coupled with the hard luck of George Mogridge, has done as much as anything to keep Bill Donovan's Yankees down in the race.

MORRIS MILLER

The Cuban, highly temperamental and once rated among the stars of his profession, is now to be at the end of his major league trail not less than a month ago. He still could chase flies in the outfield and cover ground as he did when he first established his worth with the Cincinnati Reds back in 1911. But his hitting was lamentably weak, and outfielders must hit to hold their places. Furthermore, his speed on the bases, once a big asset of Marsans, was of little use, because he was not fast on foot enough. He couldn't steal first base, and there was no such thing as stealing second if he couldn't get on. So, Fielder Jones, sitting in the dugout, at Sportsman's park the Cuban became dejected. He longed to get into the game, but realized that there was little chance of ousting any of the present incumbents of Jones' outfield. He had lost his opportunity and had failed. A sentence to Portland in the Pacific Coast league, or to Memphis in the Southern league, for faded Browns, loomed up before him. He had reached the stepping off place which all major leaguers, great or small, inevitably reach. Then he suddenly emerged from these discouraging surroundings and found himself again a regular. He was told to join another club, as he had been used in a trade.

Today Marsans is showing all the fiery dash in his play that distinguished him with the Reds and made him so desirable in the days when the Federal league was making the majors for stars. Instead of seeing his team play from a seat in the dugout he now finds himself an important cog in another machine. The realization that he is a big favorite with the fans now stirs him to greater endeavors, especially so because he realized that his hold on the affections of St. Louis fans was gone. It is the old story of change of scene.

The Omaha club made several changes to start the new season. Schick was sent back to the Chicago Cubs and Bradley and Nicholson were leased. President Rourke announced his complete roster for the second half as Miller, Yardley, and Thompson for the outfield; Wildgens, Cooney, Krug and Nye for the infield; Brodman and Shaw for catchers, and Parks, Merz, O'Toole, Leuschen and Cecil Thompson as pitchers.

The Lincoln team started the second half season with but thirteen players, including four pitchers, Gregory, East, Halla and Nye. Smith, Schmandt, Berghammer and Lamb make up the infield, and Bayless, Lober and Carlisle are the outfielders.

Catcher Lew McCarty of the Giants has discarded his crutches and now walks with the aid of a cane. McCarty sustained a broken ankle on June 7 and it is not likely that he will be able to play for another month at least.

Johnny Castle, who was hurt a few days after joining the St. Louis team, is expected to be at the end of his major league trail not less than a month ago. He still could chase flies in the outfield and cover ground as he did when he first established his worth with the Cincinnati Reds back in 1911. But his hitting

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

William Farnum will have the leading role in "The Conqueror," for release in September. It is described as a massive and thrilling photo-dramatic romance, based on the life of one of America's frontier heroes—General Sam Houston of Texas.

Farnum steps into the scene in the role of the celebrated Texas hero. In the picture, Sam Houston is first shown as a diamond in the rough, living among the heretic Indians and indifferent to the call of his brethren. When he meets the Tennessee Rose, played by Jewel Carmen, Houston undergoes a complete reversal of form.

From this moment he is filled with unquenchable ambition and the picture carries him through the various steps in his career, from constable to governor and from governor to the aid of his Cherokee friends, an army of Mexicans and saves the woman he loves.

The American sailor who gets the sweater which Pauline Frederick is knitting for the navy need not be surprised if he catches cold, for there are going to be a number of drop stitches and other curious apertures in the garment. Who could sit in a seventy-five horsepower racing car going at top speed and expect to get every stitch correct? Miss Frederick declares that frequently it is a question of dropping a stitch or her life, and so far the stitches have suffered.

In the newest Middle feature it was necessary for many of the players to jump into the sea from a swiftly moving schooner. Twenty-two children volunteered to take the jump, and did take it, in fact. Not a single child could swim, but each one felt sure strong arms would be ready to rescue, and leaped away.

Mrs. Alice Moore has been appointed assistant art director. Mrs. Moore arrived at this position while acting for the screen. Her interest was always in the scene as a whole and she was full of suggestions as to artistic effects.

Nervy Pickford's leading man in her next picture is Eugene O'Brien. On the speaking stage Mr. O'Brien appeared with Elsie Janis, Ethel Barrymore, Margaret Livingston and Fritz Schell.

MANY NOTABLES AT CATHOLICS' MEET

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 9.—Monsignor Jacobus, apostolic delegate to the United States seven or more archbishops, thirty bishops and several thousand priests and laymen, it is expected, will attend the sixteenth annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, which will be held here Aug. 28-29.

This year's convention, it is declared, will be one of the most important in the history of the organization and it is expected that action will be taken upon the so-called "diocesan plan," under which it is proposed to affiliate all Catholic bodies in the country with the American Federation. There are 110 dioceses in the country and if the plan is put into effect the federation officials say its membership will be increased from 3,000,000 to about 18,000,000.

The plan was proposed at the convention last year, and it was decided to take action at this year's meeting. The convention was endorsed at a conference of the American archbishops in Washington some time ago. The American Federation is the largest Catholic body in the country. How the Roman Catholics of America may help win the war also will be discussed at the convention.

Prelates from all parts of the country will be here. In addition to Monsignor Bonzano, will be: Archbishops Mundelein, Chicago; Glennon, St. Louis; Hanna, San Francisco; Hart, New Orleans; Moeller, Cincinnati; Christy, Portland, and Messmer, Milwaukee.

THE QUERISTS.

"And in bringing to a close my lecture on the spandoric value of dignified foods, ladies, I concluded Prof. Harebeck kindly, 'N. G.' I will recite the formula of Dr. Inna Fishent's golden discovery—the ratio of fatty carbohydrates to caloric fizz—phases, as the instructor has pointed out, immediately to bronchial carbons." And now, ladies, following my usual custom, I will answer any questions that you may ask upon points that may still be obscure to you."

"Oh, professor," she twirled, "I want to ask you where you got your hair cut so bewitchingly! My husband's hair always—"

"Professor," piped a thin woman in a purple majolica turnover, "may I ask you for good reliable way of taking grumpy stains out of baby clothes?" "My twine just simply—"

"What do you think about the duration of the war, professor?" swirled a stout woman in red and green flippers. "Do you think—"

By this time the entire room was an uproar of conflicting questions. With inspiration born of desperation, Professor Kugly emitted eight belows, ripped off his collar and tie and proceeded to go violently insane, and in forty animated seconds he was alone in the room.

To dredge raisins place them in strainer with two tablespoonfuls of flour and sift. Dredged raisins never sink to the bottom.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Today I received an invitation from some people to visit them. I am acquainted with the young lady, and she had come to see them. They live in a nearby city and if I went there I would have to stay and eat at this hotel, too. I am in doubt as to just what to do. Should I pay my own expenses at this hotel or should I allow them to do it if they offer, which they probably will? JACK.

In a case like this you should make an attempt to pay your own expenses. If they insist on paying for you, it will be all right to let them settle the bill. However, if you are to stay at the hotel, you should try to pay for yourself. If they seem to have an apartment and have you stay at their apartment without extra expense to them, of course you wouldn't be expected to pay them any more than you would if they lived at their own home. Otherwise you should try to pay.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) There is a very handsome young man who passes my office at least six times a day. He always smiles at me until this morning, I was standing near the door and he tipped his hat and said, "A very beautiful day." To which I answered, "Should I speak to him when he passes again, if he speaks first? He is a stranger and I don't know whether I did right or not, but I am sure he is a perfect gentleman."

(2) There is a certain boy I used to go with who passes my house a great deal. He tries to attract as much attention as possible. My girl friend says that it is a sure sign that he is still interested in me. Our quarrel was my fault. Do you think that is the reason?

THANK YOU. (1) It probably was all right to speak to the young man in the way you did. Business people make many acquaintances with little or no intention of introducing them in the future. Continue to speak to him, but do not encourage a conversation until after you have met him formally and are sure of his character. Be reserved.

(2) Probably he does like you, still if he passes your house often, unless the road leads to some other place where he goes. I am a girl seventeen years old. I have been going out with a young man that my mother approved of, but this summer I made a change for a young man whom my father disapproved of, but whom my father says I can go with. Mother says he is bold and forward to keep going with me when he knows it creates disapproval in my father. Who should I follow, my mother or my father? WILLFUL.

If you know instinctively that your mother is right, drop the boy by all means. But if you feel instinctively that she is wrong, if you and your father can't convince her that she misjudges the boy, perhaps after she meets him a few more times at your home she will have greater confidence in him. If you feel that this makes him like you, let him come because he likes you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) When a boy comes to see me and I let him in, should I let him go through the door first or wait and let him go first?

(2) I know a boy who stays in the drug store and every time he comes in he says, "I am not a beau, but just a friend. Should I insist on paying him?" WAITING.

(3) What should stand back and allow him to go first?

(4) Insist on paying him. If he still refuses, don't get anything to drink at his counter.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

Long argument should be avoided in general company. This becomes tiresome to the hearers. Always endeavor to change the subject after it has continued for a reasonable length of time.

Easy Going: Do not, I beg of you, accept the invitation to the card party. Since auction bridge is to be played, and you are not familiar with the game, do not test the patience of others by taking part in the entertainment. Bridge cannot be mastered in one or two sittings. It requires months of study and practice; and there is nothing more distressing to a good player than to have one's carefully planned maneuvers rendered ineffective by the blunders of an ignorant partner. Even your opponent will not enjoy beating you. It would be the height of rudeness, both to the hostess and to the other guests, to accept the invitation. When a woman asks you to her house to play the game, or remain away.

Winnie: No, you should not ask any of your boy friends for links for your bracelets. Ask them of your girl friends, to whom you can return the favor. Perhaps some of the boys will offer them, in which case you may accept the gift.

inches tall, and weigh 165 pounds. Is that normal for a girl? I have been looking under my eyes and my eyelids are puffy sometimes. Please tell me what to do. (M. B. W.)

Answer—Grow fat. You should weigh about 15 pounds more. Send me a e. for directions "How to Grow Fat."

Poisoning Children. Will you kindly state whether the use of tea or coffee at each meal is harmful to children four or five years of age? (E. H.)

Answer—Children under twelve should never be given tea or coffee, and better not even cocoa, we think. All of these beverages are fere stimulants, and in moderation may be, usually are, wholesome for adults, but young children need no stimulants, and their nervous system is impaired by tea, coffee or cocoa. Milk is the child's beverage.

MILK TOAST
Don't throw away stale bread and left-over skim milk. Make Housewife. From them you can make that simple and well-known but nourishing dish, milk toast. It is a favorite of the department of agriculture points out. This makes a good dish for breakfast, luncheon or supper, especially for children.

Heat the milk. Add a small quantity of butter and season to taste with salt. Pour while hot over well-toasted stale bread and serve.

CANNING AND PRESERVING
Pickles. Take one quart jars, vinegar, half pound salt, one-eighth pound ginger, half pound mace, one ounce whole pepper, one ounce each mustard and celery seed. Heat together good and hot. Let cool and pour into jar. Now add, from time to time, pickles, cucumbers and firm tomatoes sliced; also boiled green beans, lima beans, onions, turnips and carrots. Add a few green new things are added. Keep in cool place with mullin and plate over. Horseradish root may also be added if you have it. Will be good to use in a short time.

Green Tomato Pickle—Cook in salt water enough green tomatoes to fill a two-gallon crock. Pour over liquid composed of five pounds brown sugar, one tablespoon cinnamon, one tablespoon cloves, enough vinegar to cover. Turn liquor off and heat for three or four mornings. Lastly, can in cool place. They are very rich and good.

GOOD VEGETABLE DISHES
Green Bean Salad—Select nice fresh green beans, since two quarts. Wash, trim and cook in salt water till tender, drain and cool. Add one sliced cucumber, a little more salt and pepper, pour over three spoonfuls of dressing and place in ice box to get cold.

Creamed Cabbage—One quart sliced cabbage, two tablespoons meat, fryings, salt and pepper to taste. Cook slowly dry. When ready to serve, add dressing of half cup sour cream, one-third cup of vinegar, two tablespoons sugar; let boil and serve.

PLAIN CAKE
One-fourth cup shortening, three-fourths cup sugar, two eggs, one-half cup milk, one and one-half cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon baking powder, three tablespoons sugar.

Beat the shortening to a cream, then gradually beat in the sugar, add the eggs, beaten light without separating the whites and yolks. Sift together the flour, salt and baking powder and add to the mixture, alternately, with the milk. Turn into a pan about eight by nine inches; mix the sugar and cinnamon and sift it over the top of the cake. Bake about eighteen minutes.

TURKISH RICE
One-half cup of washed rice, three-fourths cup of tomato juice, one cup of stock, three tablespoons of butter.

Cook the tomatoes and stock together until they boil, then add rice and cook slowly until the rice is tender. Stir in the butter gently with a fork, so as not to break the rice grains, keep the dish uncovered to let the steam escape.

SIDE TALKS

—BY—
RUTH CAMERON

A Pair Of Silk Stockings.

The Authorman's Wife was most indignant. "No wonder," she said, "that you can't get a good old fashioned servant when people like her spot them so."

"What do you think the 'spelling' was?" Her neighbor had given her maid a pair of silk stockings for a birthday present.

"No wonder they put on airs," fussed the Authorman's Wife, "when they are encouraged to like that. Such an unsuitable present! Half a dozen cotton ones or a good apron would have been much more suitable!"

The Authorman's Wife has many good qualities but there are times when she makes me very cross. And this is one of them.

She Doesn't Like To See The Maid Have Nice Things

She loves silk stockings and wears them as often as she can afford. Why shouldn't the maid do the same? And anyhow it is not a question of affording when a thing is a birthday present.

I am afraid the Authorman's Wife simply resents the maid's having the same sort of pretty things she has herself. And there are few things that exasperate me more than this attitude.

Many people seem to think that because folks are poor they ought not to care what they wear if only it is clean and whole. The ideal poor person is "poorly but neatly" dressed.

And thankful for any garment they graciously choose to donate to her, however old and ugly it may be.

She Was Through With Them

One of these "gracious givers" told me one day that she was through with a certain family forever. It is a family in which there are no pretty young girls who have to turn most of their earnings in to the family purse on account of their father's illness.

The gracious giver had donated an old coat of hers which she expected the younger girl to wear. "And do you know, I don't think she ever put that old ribbon on it," she said, "I saw her going to town in a thin cheap little suit all winter. Of course that coat was a little out of style but it was warm and of good material. The pride of these people! Well I shan't bother myself with them any more."

I Knew That Coat When It Was Young

If the coat was any sample of her boasting, I don't think they will greatly grieve to know that coat. It began to go out of style three years ago and she practically stopped wearing it. Since then she has kept it in the attic in case I should want some day. She might just as well have given it away while it had some semblance of style, but she wouldn't give while there was even a remote chance of her using it.

And yet she calls her giving charity.

Truly such charity is a cloak for a multitude of sins!

Complete Final Inspection of 303 Gardens in City Cultivated by Children.

Thanks to the efforts of the children, Janeville's grocery bill will be reduced this year by about three thousand dollars. This estimate is a conservative one, for there are three hundred and three children in the city who are cultivating gardens, and as some of them run in size up to six and seven acres, ten dollars is a small amount to fix as the average value of the crop and labor expended in its production.

When the campaign to arouse interest among the school children was under way in the spring, about three hundred had signed up for the work. Now at the time of the final inspection, even more than that number are hard at work. The beautiful gardens are being kept up, and the crops have been universally successful. Very few failures, even of small crops, have been reported, and in most cases the gardens have been faithfully kept.

For the last two weeks, A. B. West, professor of agriculture in the local high school and director of the school gardening, with the assistance of the civics committee of the Commercial club, has been taking an inspection of the gardens. Every day a car and a member of the school, together with Mr. West, drove about the city picking up the young gardeners and giving them an opportunity of seeing other gardens. In this way every gardener has had an opportunity of studying other plots; each group was given a model garden and much advice given regarding various problems.

It is believed that this is the first time this feature has been incorporated as a part of a city school scheme. It proved most instructive to the boys and girls, and also provided the social side, so essential in any work with children.

In their tours of inspection, the children were not only shown gardens about the city, both those reared by other children and by older people of Janeville, but were taken to the farms in the neighborhood of the city were visited. The children have enjoyed it immensely and they have profited by it. They will be better gardeners next year than they were this.

They range in size all the way from a tiny back yard plot, up through one covering a city lot, to a few of the five acres or more. Many of the boys working these larger plots will realize seventy-five to one hundred dollars from the sale of their crops.

The recent inspection has given the civics committee a list of the gardens among many gardens among the children. With each of the children on their list, the civics committee will be able to help them in their work.

Later on they will all meet again for a big celebration of their success. Plans have not been made for this as yet, but it is believed that the event will take the form of an all-day picnic.

The tour of inspection has given Mr. West an opportunity of distributing many bulletins on garden work to the children. He has also been able to give the premiums for the Janeville fair, and all have been urged to exhibit some of their crops. No entrance charge is made for children, and as many of the vegetables grown on the city gardens are of an exceptional quality, it is believed that the entry list in that department of the fair will be materially increased.

Mr. West and A. P. Lovejoy, chairman of the civics committee yesterday, concluded their tour of inspection by visiting the many gardens cultivated by adults to be in excellent condition. In many places men have never before thought of garden work, and everywhere vacant lots have been turned to profit.

WHOLESALE CANNING

AT STATE'S PRISON

Madison, Wis., Aug. 9.—One state institution—the state prison at Waupun—has demonstrated the value of the advice of the state council of defense to can vegetables and fruits for winter use.

When the canning season is over the prison will have 10,000 gallon cans and 200 gallon jars ready for the table. This will mean a large saving in the cost of feeding the prisoners, one of the largest items of expense.

More than 1,500 gallons of peas have been canned, and the rest of the cans will be used for corn, tomatoes, beans, pumpkins, beets, and squash. A large quantity of catsup will be made and pickled cucumbers will form part of the menu.

The prison farm raises small fruits, also, and already 125 gallons of strawberries are in jars.

Warden Town has increased the production of the prison farm again by adding a new crop of the state council. The farm will raise twenty acres of sugar beets, four acres of peas, four acres of rutabagas, turnips and onions, 113 acres of field corn, four acres of sweet corn, seventy acres of hay, four acres of beans, one acre of tomatoes, eight acres of cabbage, fifteen acres of onions, carrots, squash, pumpkins, beets, lettuce, radishes, cucumbers, and eggplants, four acres of strawberries, blackberries and raspberries, ten acres of orchard, ten acres of pears, fifty-five acres of potatoes thirty acres of barley, ten acres of wheat, ninety-five acres of oats, and one acre has been used for garden.

All of the work has been done for prison labor.

LITTLE DIRTY HANDS.

Little dirty hands he owns, Soiled by throwing sticks and stones; Scratched and cut and filled with grime

From the trees he tried to climb; Just as black as they can be, Yet they mean a lot to me.

Chubby little hands that play In the dirt from day to day; In the morning almost white, To be black again at night. Sorry hands at dusk to see, Yet they mean a lot to me.

Little dirty hands at play, Reap their pleasures while you may; Hand there are of grown up men That will not be clean again; Through the grime I see at night Innocence is shining white.

In those little hands you hold Little joys when I am old; Little do you guess how much Of my life your fingers clutch, And me future lies in you And the work those hands will do.

Dirty little hands to see, Yet they mean a lot to me; Wonderful my dreams and fine When I take them both in mine, In the distance I can view Splendid deeds they're going to do.

Keep the Telephone Level

THE small brass drum immediately behind the diaphragm of your telephone is partly filled with carbon particles of about the size of granulated sugar. Their function is to vary the impulses of the sound vibrations from the diaphragm.

If the telephone is held so that the particles fall away from or "pack" against the diaphragm, the voice will have a "far away" or a muffled sound to the listener.

Careful tests have demonstrated that the voice is heard most clearly when the telephone rests upon a horizontal surface.

Method in His Madness.

Mrs. Wick—What is the use of standing there and calling the stove names? That won't make the fire burn any better. Mr. Wick—I thought that maybe if I could insult the blamed thing it would get hot about it.

The Business of Living

A Happy Meeting On the Other Side of the World.

"Bertram!" Patty rushed into the outstreached arms of her husband, and the two of them, with their backs to the door, stood for a moment in a happy meeting.

"How brown you are!" "Yes, and my muscles are in good shape. That is, when I'm not a little tired. One must be to live like here. A grim life, show, I found his mouth as he spoke. "When do you go to training camp?" asked Patty.

"Not till after the celebration on the fourteenth. We are to stay in Paris till after that, and I came up here to arrange for a leave for you. That day, I must spend it to get away. I have a day off and I felt sure I could get one for you if I came to see about it in person."

"What a high light such a joy as this meeting! When I was in the back of the crowd of this war, I had just faith in personal happiness; I began to believe there was no such thing. It is becoming hard to be happy in this war. As for me, I am as American where happy, peaceful people go about their work as if the whole world were not torn to pieces across the water. But here, on her husband's shoulder.

"I imagine it is not difficult for Eleanor to realize how a woman feels when her husband is reported missing. Poor girl, it did seem cruel to leave her all alone in her troubles."
